

WHERE'S MY SIGN? No. 14

20 April 2007

I wonder what's on the end of the hook, way, way up there ?

That looks like an excavator: why would anybody want to lower an excavator down a chimney ?

What were we thinking ?

Nobody in their right mind would be lowering an excavator down a chimney.

Of course the demolition contractor would have a specially modified excavator hanging off the crane hook, demolishing the chimney.

Doesn't everybody ?

I wonder if the excavator manufacturer approved of this modification of their design?
